Bring the Past Back to Life with AKVIS Coloriage 12.0! Now with Color History

June 13, 2019 — AKVIS announces the major update of AKVIS Coloriage, photo colorization software. Version 12.0 provides the Color History palette with last used colors, and includes support for more RAW files and some other changes.

AKVIS Coloriage offers colorizing and recoloring features for your pictures. It includes both automatic and manual tools, the rich Color Library, and various options to pick out colors. The product is irreplaceable in your colorization projects. Its original purpose is to add color to black and white photos, but it works equally well to process any type of images: portraits, landscapes, street and architectural scenes, illustrations and drawings.

Version 12.0 provides the Color History palette which makes it easier to select the desired tint for your pictures. The program now keeps the last twelve used colors. With this useful addition, the software becomes even more versatile and easy to use!

Also, the update implements support for more RAW files, some bug fixes and stability improvements.
