

AKVIS AirBrush 6.0: Even More Creative Possibilities with the Smart Contrast Feature!

June 21, 2018 – AKVIS announces AirBrush 6.0, an artistic software for transforming digital photos into airbrushed works of art. Version 6.0 provides the new Smart Contrast option, the improved image processing algorithm, the new Notification Panel, the Chinese interface language, support for new RAW files, some licensing changes, and other improvements.

AKVIS AirBrush turns digital photos into gorgeous paintings which look like made with a special airbrush spray tool. The program allows users to get both monochrome and color airbrush drawings. Using the Multicolor mode, it is possible to create a special artistic effect by processing an image with 5 colors. A huge range of ready-to-use presets makes it easier to get a good result without having to make all the setting manually.

Version 6.0 offers the new Smart Contrast option for the Monochrome and Multicolor modes that makes the image appear dramatic by adding strong highlights and shadows.

The image processing algorithm of the software has been improved. The Lightness parameter is now more powerful when adjusting the brightness of an image.

The pull down Notification Panel informs users of product updates and upgrades, special offers and new releases. Keeping up to date has never been easier!

Also, the new version offers the Chinese interface language, updated and expanded Presets list, support for new RAW files, some licensing changes, and bug fixes.
