

AKVIS Coloriage 11: Colorizing B&W Photos Is Now a Child's Play!

April 5, 2018 – AKVIS announces the release of AKVIS Coloriage 11. The software allows colorizing black-and-white photos and replacing colors in color photos. Version 11 provides the new Favorites category in the Color Library, the History Brush tool, support for RAW and PSD files, full compatibility with Photoshop CC 2018, some interface improvements, and other changes.

AKVIS Coloriage lets users experiment with colors in photos: colorize B&W photos and replace colors in color images. The software is easy to learn and use and does not demand any special skills. All you have to do is assign a specific color to each object. The program automatically recognizes the object's border and applies the new color to it in a realistic manner. It works equally well for coloring of portraits, landscapes, street and architectural scenes.

In version 11, the new Favorites group has been added to the Color Library. Now it is possible to save frequently used colors for fast access. Additionally, the color samples in all groups have been sorted by brightness. The new arrangement makes it easier to visualize and compare colors.

The new History Brush tool allows users to revert parts of the image back to the original picture. This is especially useful when colorizing separate objects.

Also, the new version offers the Chinese interface language, support for RAW and PSD files, full compatibility with Photoshop CC 2018, various interface improvements, and other changes.

The product is available as a standalone program and as a plugin filter for AliveColors, Adobe Photoshop and other image editors. The software runs on Windows XP, Vista, 7, 8, 8.1, 10; Mac OS X 10.7-10.11 and macOS 10.12-10.13.

AKVIS Coloriage, Home license, sells for $75. AKVIS subscribers are offered a 10% discount off the initial cost. One license key allows activating and using the software on two computers. For more information about the software visit akvis.com.

The update is free for users who bought Coloriage in the last 12 months. Users, whose license is older and is not valid for the new version, can get Coloriage 11 for only $14.95.

AKVIS (akvis.com) specializes in development of video & image processing software. Since the company's launch in 2004, it has released a number of successful products: standalone applications and Photoshop plugins for Windows and Mac.
