AKVIS Watercolor Video 1.0: New Artistic Plugin for Video Editors

November 15, 2022 — AKVIS is pleased to launch a new plugin for video editing programs. AKVIS Watercolor Video 1.0 adds watercolor effects to videos. The plugin is compatible with the most popular video editing programs on Windows and Mac.

AKVIS expands its line of video editing products with a brand new plugin – AKVIS Watercolor Video.

The software creates animated cartoons that look like painted with watercolor on canvas. Graphic designers, video makers and content creators will surely appreciate the diversity and the flexibility of the plugin. It allows adding a vibrant feel to any video or give it a light airy touch.

AKVIS Watercolor Video offers two filters: Watercolor Video Classic and Watercolor Video Contour. The Classic Watercolor style creates traditional aquarelle arts with transparent paints. The Contour Watercolor style imitates a mixed method of painting, very close to the "dry-on-wet" watercolor technique.

The plugin comes with a rich collection of predefined, ready-to-use presets. Users can choose from dozens of built-in AKVIS presets or design and save custom presets.

The software needs to be installed as a plugin to Adobe Premiere Pro, After Effects, DaVinci Resolve, Vegas Pro, EDIUS Pro 9, Natron or another compatible video editor.

The new software is available for download at akvis.com. AKVIS offers 30 days trial at no registration!

AKVIS Watercolor Video runs on Windows 7, 8, 8.1, 10, 11 and macOS 10.12-13.0 - 64-bit. The plugin offers a multi-language user interface.

AKVIS Watercolor Video comes in two versions: Home ($ 49) for personal use and Pro ($ 69) for commercial use. The new product is included in the AKVIS Video Bundle that offers six video editing plugins 30% off.
